

Poetry Series

Pooja Kumaraguru
- poems -

Publication Date:
2017

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Pooja Kumaraguru(25.07.1998)

Bow And Arrow

Like a thirsty traveller searching
For water in a faraway desert,
I desperately searched for a kind heart
In this world full of cruel people,

I found many,
But,
They turned out to be mirage!

Like the oasis that quenched
the traveller's thirst,
At last, You found me,
I found you.

The lamp fell in love
With the daring lion.

You were bow,
I was the arrow,
You bent,
To make me propel.

I love you!

Pooja Kumaraguru

Flower

Somebody saw me from the window
As i was sitting in the meadow
She was a cute little child
And she was really very kind
She gave me some water
Which made me feel better
First she had a sad look on her face
But it went away after she saw my beauty and grace
When she touched me in the middle
Oh! it really made me fiddle
When she saw her field-my home-which was beautiful and grassy
I know she felt a bit sassy
Let her happily start her day
Without letting me fade away

Pooja Kumaraguru

Friends, Best Friends, True Friends

You can understand what I think,
And I can understand what you think,
You know what I like,
And I know what you like,
You know what I dislike,
And I know what you hate,
Because we are friends;

You rescue me from all the tragedies in life,
And I know to make you happy when you are sad,
You are always on my side,
And that means I am always on your side,
Because we are best friends;

You never let me down in front of anybody anywhere,
And I swear I too will never let you down in front of anybody anywhere.
Because we are true friends.

Pooja Kumaraguru

One And Only

You are to me like the sun is to the solar system,
You are to me like the Rose plant is to the beautiful garden,
You are to me like the catalog is to the library,
You are to me like a mother is to her child,
You are to me like a knight is to a country,
You are to me like like a teacher is to her student's life,

You are my sunshine,
You are my fragrance,
You are my guide,
You are my mentor,
You are my saviour,
You are my everything!

I love you!

Pooja Kumaraguru

Sun & Ocean

Warm and bright
As if the sun got down a little bit closer to me
Calm and cold
As if there were an ocean inside of me

Warm and bright
Time spent with you
Calm and cold
Your presence next to me

Pooja Kumaraguru

Trustworthy Friendship

When I fall, you lend me your hand,
And make me come up in life,
When I cry, you lend me your sweet words,
And sweep away all the sorrow in my heart,
When I shout, you lend me your silence,
And give me satisfaction anything the reason may be,
When I laugh, you lend me your smile,
And make me the most happiest person in the world.

Pooja Kumaraguru