

Poetry Series

Blessed Curses

- poems -

Publication Date:
2013

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Blessed Curses(10/17)

I am trying to be a great poet one day. I take what I experience and try to help others cope with things. I started writing when I was in 7th grade. I know I am far from perfect, but hopefully I will get better as I grow into what I know best...Poetry.

Alone

The child is alone
And no one cares
The child is hungry
And no one shares
The child needs love
But no one dares,

Yet they never knew
The child was an Angel
That was out on a mission
To give God's blessing
To whom ever stopped
And gave an inch of concern,

No one ever even dared
To lift the child's head
That was bowed

The child was alone
Alone!
Out in the cold
Yet no one ever
Gave her a bit of warmth

A day later
On the corner
The child always seemed to appear
A young lady stopped
To offer the child
The little help she could give,

A week later
That same young lady
Didn't need to stay at the shelter
Because out of the clear blue
She had a home
She had a car
She had a job,

The next day the young lady
Went back to offer the child
A place to stay and call her home
But the child was gone.

Blessed Curses

Dear Ex Lover

I never knew
I would regain my strength
I never knew
I would be able to walk
This world without you
Dear ex lover
Now I can finally say
Although you may have broken my heart
You was not strong enough to break me,

I never knew it was possible
I never knew it was in me
To hold my head high
After you had left me,

I thought for sure
I was never going to love again
But Im happy that once again
I was wrong
Like I was wrong
When I swore up and down
You were the one for me

Dear ex lover
You said I could never find
Anyone like you
I am happy you were right
Because I actually found
Someone better....Thank you
For breaking my heart.

Blessed Curses

Falling And No One There To Catch Me

I smile everyday
As though I never cry
But my eyes
Have rained many nights,
Due to my foolishness
Never knew
It would end like this
With my heart
Broken,
I laugh all the time
Like my soul
Is not in pain
But only if you knew
How much
It breaks over and over
In the thick of the night,
Only if you knew
How much I loved you
Only if you would have opened your eyes
And caught me
As I fell for you
Than maybe
Just maybe
You would not be
On the verge of dying
Without a soul coming
That cares for you
The way I always had.

Blessed Curses

Fool

Just when I began
To give in
And love you
You turn around
And hurt me,

Just when I began
To trust you
You hide the truth
And lie to me,

I am a fool
To keep taking you back
After you keep Crushing
My already broken heart
That has been hanging on by a thread
To life,

I was a fool
To ever think
You would change,

But now I have learned
From my mistakes,

I just never would have thought
It would take this long
To finally see
Through all your lies

Blessed Curses

How Come

How many times
Must one abuse your love
Before you finally realize
They do not love you?

How many times
Can one cheat
Before you realize
How much you hate to share?

How many times
Will you allow
The one you love
Mistreat you
Before you realize
They don't care?

How come you settle
So easily
And love so blindly?

How come you rather
Take this risk
And fall even more in love
With someone
Who you could never be Number one to
But refuse to take a risk
To love someone
Who cares for you
Someone that refuses
To look at everyone
Like they look at you?

How come you settle
For what you do not deserve?

Blessed Curses

I Am

I am
Strong
I am
Brave
And may that
Follow me
To my grave,

I am
Who I am
And I love
Who what am
Rather you
And the world
Hate me
For what I became,

I am confident
I am fearless
And when it comes
To your petty criticism
I am careless,

Forever I will be
What I want to be
I don't need your permission
And I don't need you Tell me what I must be,

I am
Strong
I am
Brave
And may that
Follow me
To my grave.

Blessed Curses

I Lived

In the days
When I come
Face to face
With death
Remember to stay strong
For me,

Even when I cannot Stay strong for myself,

In the days
When maybe for the first time
You see me cry
My last tears
Remember to hold my hand,

On that day
When my eyes close
And I began to exhale
My last breath
Remember everything
I have taught you
And how much I have Always loved you,

And please in this time
Try not to let my death
Bring you down to your knees,

Because in that time
When I come to live
No more
I want you to live
Live,
And live on for me
Hold your head high
And carry on
Be strong for me.

Blessed Curses

I Must Admit

I must admit
That I cannot truly love you
Because my heart does not belong
To us,
I am sorry...

I must admit
That I cannot sit here
And lie
Like my soul yerns for you
When clearly it does not,

I know you must be crushed
I can see it in your eyes
As you stand there in disbelief
I can hear your heart cracking
As tears wash your face

I cannot stand to know
That I've skard you for life
I apologize
But someday as you held me
You would have realized
My heart
Was in the arms of another.

Blessed Curses

Love

Hold me
Tight
All through
The night,

Kiss me softly
And tell me
Promise me
You will be alright,

I love you
More than I
Love myself
And I really wish
You could stay
But your country calls you
So dont let me drive you stray,

I will be here Waiting
For you to return
Please try to Make it back home
Safetly
My love

You are my hero
You are our hero
And for that
I will always love you.

But to night
Since it will be our last
Together
Hold me
Kiss me
I want to hear you say
You love me
So softly in my ear

I want to be able
To feel your heart beat
Forever
Like tonight
When your not here.

Blessed Curses

Mirror..Mirror

I looked into the mirror
And saw nothing
But broken glass
I looked for the reason
To why?
And it led me straight to you
My past,

My heart felt empty
My soul
Forever broken
Because of your actions
And I wonder ddo that phase you
At all
You were to blame
Yet it was I who took the fall,

Mirror
Mirror
You told me the truth
But what is the use
When there is no good
For the proof.

Blessed Curses

Nothing I Could Say

There was nothing

I could say

But Im sure my fellow tear

Expressed every word I could not,

There was nothing.....nothing

That I could find

No words in my mind

That could express this one moment

When I was drowned in.....

And to think I had enough tears

That would write this story

To think I had at last

go rid of all pains and could stand tall

In glory....

I only cried one tear

I only had one tear

That seemed to run down my face

A million times.

Blessed Curses

You Cannot

You cannot help
All who cry
Cannot wipe all the tears
But I'll try
You cannot heal
The broken
Cannot feel
Whats open
But keep hopin..
You cannot stop
The pain
Because there is a time
Where we all must Feel the rain
You cannot.....

Blessed Curses