

Poetry Series

Darby Diana
- poems -

Publication Date:
2006

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Darby Diana(09/04/1943)

I traveled the world over in the US Navy, wrote a little when I was in the military. I nursed for 30 years, doing what I could to survive on the income of a nurse, I wrote poetry about my patients and teddy of my thoughts go back to the streets, I was homeless for nine years searching for a priority in life, I continued my writing in New , I want to market my poems and publish a book for all the children of the world to see the love of my words.

Brave Soldiers

I have seen them cry for mercy,
Young men and women of all ages,

Trying their best to defend.
Bombs and rockets dropped all night,

We heard the blasting fright,
Medics ran to assist,

They knew of the deadly risks,
Remembering war is a nightmare,

The brave soldiers didn't know what was out there.
The soldiers are proud of their flag,

All the men and women fight to the end,
They won't stop until our flag flies red, white, and blue in the wind.

Darby Diana

Teddy Bear Christmas

All the teddy bears love the snow,
They are always ready with their sleds to go.
I love their spirit of adventure and play,
All their joy and love for boys and girls comes with a teddy bear hug.
Traveling to visit their friends,
The snow is coming down, it's almost Christmas Day.
I know they celebrate the holiday,
That is the teddy bear way.

Somewhere in the pines,
The Teddy Bear Christmas tree is all aglow,
Bright lights calling them to dance and sing.
It is a pretty sight to see.
They eat the candies and cakes,
Open Christmas presents they made.
Play games and sing,
Teddy Bear Christmas bells ring,

Bless all the teddy bears everywhere,
Teddy Bear Christmas is finally here.

Darby Diana