Durr e Nayab Malik()

(January 8,2004)

In 2004, an unwanted baby girl was born as the family wanted a boy. So, the story starts from here... A girl name Durr-e-Nayab, who used to get bad compliments about her appearance and also about how skinny she is as compared to her other sisters. Being the fifth child, she was not cared at first, but God had some plans for her. She had a euphonious voice which entangled many hearts. She had a great memory which leads to many accomplishments in her academic career. Slowly, she became prettier and then at her 20th birthday, she got a compliment from her own sister that she is the most beautiful sister she had..... The story takes a turn. The girl gets the first position among all the colleges in exam and gets admittance in one of the prestigious universities. But her father had other wishes. She loves her father more than herself. Her family is her priority. Her father wants her to become a doctor and she felt the pressure as she is interested in chemistry. But somehow, destiny takes her to a new journey where she studies chemistry but up to her dismay she gets to know there are many people who are good at this..... The girl is approached by many students because of her beauty but remember she was once called ugly. She knows her roots....

Nobody believes her when she says she is not interested in relationships. All she wants is silence and nature. She is still living, a story which is still going. Would she change her life or a plot is waiting for her.....?
