

Poetry Series

JACQUELINE MKINDI
- poems -

Publication Date:
2008

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

JACQUELINE MKINDI()

At Last

I feel the flame burning, the heart pounding
In this God forsaken place with rushing releasing the steam of poison which is fuming infecting my inner being killing all my living

It's impeccable stringing and daring swinging swirling all through my veins with shagging holding, hanging and praying for its ending help I'm screaming daring to escape this trenching nobody hears my crying or even thinking of helping I'm wondering how I got myself in this aching

I try to get out but so caught up it's heart wrenching why ooh why is this all happening in this wrong timing

I can't lose hope I console myself I'm fighting
I keep up but my body let me down I'm drowning saddening the same at once I slip en' deteriorating surely at last my soul give up in deep sleep I'm swept

JACQUELINE MKINDI

Can We

Can we just lay here...

I want to feel your heartbeat as mine

In a constant rhythm

A tale of our soul intertwine

Share all the mysteries within

Can we just forget about tomorrow...

It's just me, you and the angels above

In this paradise we dance and sing

Eat fresh plums and sip wine

While our body explore one another

It is more than a dream

Rather every lovers wish and steam

Can we just hold each other until the end of time

Never letting go of these beautiful tales we share

Can we make love all through the spring until summer begin

You yearning for me and me recipocate

Can we watch the stars falling while we share each other...

Can we enjoy when the moon making love to the sun creating a beautiful eclipse....

Oooh how i love the feel of me and you together

With rose pedal all around the room the fragrance of sweet berry perfume....

Makes me wanna tear your skin...

Ooh my love can we...can we...?

Please say we can...cause i can't take it any longer.

JACQUELINE MKINDI

Caution

An utter most-fear
Deep in despair
In thin air I disappeared
It's not clear
How it appeared
Moved so quickly
Like a spear...

I flew away
In a distance array
Full of unknown
And a lot of dismay
All in all I will be all right!

JACQUELINE MKINDI

Cave

I see a glimpse of light, through this little crack Flashing my eyes, I wonder what it was
Is it a bright sunlight, or a beam of sight
Oh is it a miraculous ultraviolet light

Oh it might even be a panoramic sight
For all I know It might be my ceramic delight
Is that a fact, in all the act or my blamed light hard to tell fake from real in this ca coon blight

JACQUELINE MKINDI

Garden Of Joy

I pass through this beautiful garden
It has different flower in each color
They all lively with a smiling scent
It made my day like heaven sent

I sat down on the sand with attractive sight
It was what I found the black and blue
Was all my cue it caught my eyes this is true

I wish you could see what I saw bright rainbow overflow and all the creature with joy
It was like paradise on the show
This garden of joy, join to blow....

JACQUELINE MKINDI

Gesture

A simple gesture, not easily measured
It can conquer a bitter heart, with pressure
It's all the want, not money or treasure
Just a simple gesture of a beautiful smile

JACQUELINE MKINDI

Haiku

EYES IN HIDDEN PLACE
DEEP IN THE DARK MEADOW
AN IRIS

JACQUELINE MKINDI

My Love

My love is like a symphony playing non-stop
It's streaming down the shore with over flow
Deeply soothing with an enchanting tune
Hypnotizing melody to all the eardrums

My love will never fade as long as it plays
With the different sounds in every word
Why will it End? This remarkable band!
Not your usual blend but one of it's kind

My love is all I have in this abandon hole
With the melodies heart, blues and soul
Is all I can give to an ambiguous troll
This breathtaking venture, is hardly measured

JACQUELINE MKINDI

Spring

The spring has just began
The flowes are blooming
But the weather is unpredictable
A little bit of coughing and sneezing
It will end soon and summer will begin

JACQUELINE MKINDI

Untitled

In dismay a thud sound
In the ground he is found
The backyard where he lies
This being without a sigh

She shout loud with no pause
Almost losing her tone
This beautiful soul
In an instant was a grave mound

JACQUELINE MKINDI