

Poetry Series

Jennifer VanderGhinst
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Jennifer VanderGhinst(10/22/91)

I'm seventeen years old i live in fort collins colorado. I am still in high school. I go to Rocky Mountain High school. I am a junior (11) . I live with my family of course. As everyone know that the economy is going down well our family is feeling it. We lost our house so now we live with my sister and my brother in law. I share a room with my nephew and my mom shares a room with my little brother and sister. Its really tough on us. I try and work as long as possible, but i also take time to focus on my studies.

How Much It Hurts

It hurts to know what you have done to me.

It hurts to know what you have done with someone else.

It hurts to know that you think about someone else then me.

It hurts to know what your thinking about that someone else.

It hurts to know that you leave me to go and see her.

It hurts to know that you always want to see her.

It hurts to know what you have done behind my back.

Love just hurts

Jennifer VanderGhinst

My Heart

My heart has been broken,
My heart has been cured,

Even though it takes a while,

True love is what my heart is looking for,
Even though it can never find the right heart,

My heart has brought to many wrong people,
But it has been cured,

No one can understand the pain a man can cause to a heart,

When they,

Cheat,
Break it,
Hurt it,
Abuse it,

My heart has been through it all...

Jennifer VanderGhinst

My Life

It may not notice how bad it is at home.
No one asks so i don't tell anyone.

It really hurts to keep everything inside of me,
sometimes i just want to let it out.

Knowing that my mom is close to being dead
and my lil bro and sis have no where to go.

Knowing that we have to live at that house for longer
then expected.

When they treat us bad and don't like us being there.

Even though they want to kick us out

Even though they want us out of there life

It just hurts

Jennifer VanderGhinst

What If He Takes Advantage Of Me? ?

What should i do if he takes advantage of me? ?

In bed,

In life,

He holds me down to get pleasure out of me,
He verbally abuses me until he gets my money,

He wants everything out of me,

He tells me he loves me, but then he says

'I was with someone else that was way better then you, and she gave me whatever i wanted.'

What am i suppose to do when he takes advantage of me?

I'm only seventeen at a young age.

I work

I go to school

And he wants everything out of me! 1

What am i suppose to do? ?

He is taken advantage of me! !

Jennifer VanderGhinst

What Is A Perfect Man To Me? ?

The perfect man to me is...

A man i can trust,
A man that can see my feelings,
A man that would love me,
A man that wouldn't be afriad to talk to me,
A man that would take care of me,

A true man that doesn't care about himself more then me,
A man that would do anything for me,
A man that would see me for who i am and nothing else,
A man that doesn't want anything from, but love and care.

Jennifer VanderGhinst