Broken And Used

Never did I imagine that I'd see this in life Someone stealing your heart and chowing it with a fork and a knife

The idea might sound impossible and unreal but it's true
I was blinded and I thought he felt the same way too

But now all the happy days are over and I am sitting here feeling so helpless I struggle to understand how one can be so heartless

The same person who once held my hand and promised me forever Is now pretending that all those moments that we shared never exists whatsoever

I know that by now I should have healed but letting go just sounds so insane
But this is reality and I guess I can't run away from all this pain

I am wrecked, damaged and dead on the inside
But I'm glad this whole experience has given me an insight

Of what happens when one falls with only one eye open
I can't think of anything, I am broken.
