

Poetry Series

Raag Sapra
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Raag Sapra()

My Destiny

my destiny is to fly
above the great sky
my destiny is to try harder as i go high

my destiny is to win
and pay for the sins
my destiny is to fly
above the great sky

Raag Sapra

My Dream

i dream of a rose in the desert sand i dream of rain in a barren land i dream that people in the world hold hand and united they stand

i dream of touching the skies above i dream of people living in love.

there is no logic in my dream and there is nothing as it seems.
(i wake up!)

Raag Sapra

My Family

i love my dad like anything he is my family's king
he is the most caring for our family he is daring

to all fights
for our rights

i love my mom too
this is a message for you her help you should do
yes, i am telling true

you will feel free
she is just like bruce lee

my brother is very cute he plays a flute
he is a cool dude
a little bit rude

he is very kind
he has a very good mind

i am very cool
i am studying in a school a little bit naughty a little bit fool i am scared of swimming pool so just beware don't fight or i'll drink fanta apple and go bite.

Raag Sapra

Nino

nino, my pal where are you gone without you i'm a detective without Don harry potter without ron a switch 'Off' without 'ON'

without you i'm elcetricity without fan a diet coke without can a celebrity without fan a women without a man

you are my best pal ever i'll forget you never

nino, my pal where are you gone.....

Raag Sapra

The Betrayal

trust is a sweet sacrifice you make,
it is a risk you take...

'the betrayal' is a fierce trust, that gives your hopes a dust...

it gives demotivation,
all the pain, the tention...

i had the pain, 'the betrayal' i had always been loyal...

then to i had it,
it gives a shocking hit...

stay away from 'the betrayal'
'the betrayal', 'the betrayal'

Raag Sapra