

Poetry Series

Rita Johnson
- poems -

Publication Date:
2017

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Rita Johnson()

Egyptian

Egyptian sun high in the sky the memories fly the aqua of the Canel sapphire bright thou heart does die but knowledge lives in the past it provides of Egypt my heart beats brights my soul does linger in thou mystery my past left behind does harbour there parents look down from beyond At their children's smiles Emplanted there
Their mothers fathers joy embracing circling empowering them
The land is etched in glories past
And the blood drenched sand weeps from battles lost

Rita Johnson

Enduring Love

When ur low let me hold you high Sadness comes let me share my smile
When you happy let us sire like eagles and fly Here is my heart hold it gently as gosama wings
Let my love surround you and keep you safe
My heart beats for you as you'd does mine together as one

Rita Johnson