

Poetry Series

saqib abraham
- poems -

Publication Date:
2016

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

saqib abraham()

musician

poet singer song writer

God Is Visible

God is visible
I found her
She wept
On the Cradle,
The Mothers's womb Fluttered
The blue butterfly Murmured
In the Summer
And she found her Holler
Worship near Jugular

God is visible
Oh Men of Garden
Never push away the Orphan
Feed not the Fables of Ancient Speak your Soul
You are the creation of Wonderful

saqib abraham

'Oh Summer Wind'

'Oh Summer wind'

'Oh summer wind, fly me;
To the sky, up in the clouds;
From that misty mountains;
And silent caves, to the heart;
Of God's home, where the magnificent;
The finest, soul of brilliance;
Hovers upon the Seven.'

saqib abraham

The Virgin Mother

Sleeps the virgin mother
Beyond the old voyage
Crawls an unborn child
Claims the debt of broken ark
Prevents the war at saturn
Relief from the shadows of patriarch

Worship a virgin mother
Beyond the door of celestial skin
Conquer an unborn child
Claims the debt of mighty throne
Triumph before the rising sun
Whispers the funeral
Beneath the broken leaf

Relief fro

saqib abraham

'Yellow Moon Whispers'

'Yellow Moon whispers'
On my way!
To a wooden Clock House!
I see Yellow Moon whispers!
The Song of Old Jenny!
A Hamlet where Blind rules
Careless Eyes!
Measures Time and Swing
To the Childless Sky!

saqib abraham