

Poetry Series

Shalini ashok
- poems -

Publication Date:
2008

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Shalini ashok()

The Magic Around Us

Hello the center of my life,
As the armada of desire sails away..... I see the passing of one more wish.....With each passing breath, comes back the time that we spent under the beautiful sun.

The cold rain that Engraved its memories on us... Those nights of insatiable arguments.

I feel your love and care as you remember me generously.....

As I live in the dreams of your promises, believing them to be true....

Suddenly my phone rings.... and I know its you...

Is it not but magic that is between us?

It may lose its charm one day....but will never lose its truth.

I shall not let your face flow through the tears on impatience.....for I know you believe in this magic as much as I do.

Shalini ashok

The Sun Will Shine

One day, we shall meet again, at a place where there are no boundries..no doubts...no apprehensions.

Then you will hold my hand and take me to the darkest corner, saying..... keep walking dear.....we shall sail through the drying sea.

Then the sun will shine bright.....the sky will be blue and the red rose will blossom in the glory of my faith....

Shalini ashok