Autumn Leaves

From the sky they seem to fall
Just as whispers so often heard
I shall catch the ones I can
And the pile upon the ground
I will hold in my hand
I shall pile them together
And jump right in These autumn leaves I lie within
Colored so bright
Yet dying
Drying
Within
Fallen from the trees
They drift away
A reminder of another day
Without destination
Whichever way the wind blows
That is the way
The autumn leaves go
I stare in silence

It's just a season

I suppose

As the season soon

Turns deathly cold

Chasing The Day

~Dedicated To My Best Friend Legal-Eagle~

Taking the day by surprise

I shall wake before the sunrise

Vigorous chores

From here to there

I'll step up a notch

With a twist in the air

The dusk is upon my tail

Its not an option for me to fail

Chasing the day to no surprise

One day I will catch the sunrise

No more vigorous chores

Or having to run from here to there

To slow down just a notch

To slowly breathe the morning air

To sit and relax a moment on my tail

To be ok in life without fail

Chasing the day to no surprise

An invigorating adventure

In disguise

Fallen Angel

In all life's sadness and fallen tears

One comes to me with a broken wing

Not knowing how to fly

Forgotten by life's despair

A glass tear falls in desperation to be caught

Only to scatter amongst the cold hard floor

Fallen angel has lost her wings

Only to lead others to fly

To offer hope which is never seen

To hide in shadows and only cry

Wanting to soar again amongst the sky

As the bite of bitterness hides inside

Never showing the pain of the rain so unkind

Laughter echoes down life's corridor

Sounding like anguish screams

Where was I to be

I hide among the shadows of my world of rain

Trying to conceal my life's pain

Ghost Of Moonlight

The bells sound in a solemn tone
The moonlight shines
Upon the unknown
Mysterious features of a face once seen
A voice once heard
As I believed
The chill of the wind shimmers up my Spine
I still remember
Still trying to forget
The words never spoken
The words of regret
An open Mic within my heart
Broke all silence
Within the dark
A passion untamed
A fire in the sky
Making a wish
A wish within your eyes
Those diamond stars cut so deep
No air could I breathe
For there you stand with your glare
My forgotten ghost
My nightmare
An outstretched arm
To pass right through
Tears in my eyes
I never knew
How much my heart longs to touch you
And upon this moonlit night
I stand in silence
As you take flight
My ghost of moonlight

Gossamer Light

Hold High the Beaming Sky Light

Upon The Pillars Which Fold the Night

Such Gossamer Eyes

Such Lovely Might

Behold a Rose

In The Moons Sight

It is The Glowing Orb That Rules the Night

Make But a Wish to Fly Tonight

Mystical Glitter Sprinkled Array

Unlock the Mysteries of My Renea

Shall But a Tear Fall from Thine Eye

I Shall Clasp Tight In Heroic Sigh

All But a Dream

A Dream Turning Round

A Whisper

A Whisper

Don't Look Down

And Oh the Sky Rips Open with Light

Make Way

Make Way

Starlight, Closing Eyes with Open Sight

Fly

Oh Fly With Might

Into The Gossamer Light

I Am Rain

As the oceans wondrous currents flow with might

As the gentle misty fog that lingers in the moonlight

From the sky ripped and torn

From the air fallen and poured

From the glass you drink

I will be forevermore

Refresh and renew your body's decree

I am the rain that falls from the trees

I am the ocean which goes to and fro

I am the cooling springs that glisten and glow

The sun shall rise and I'll ascend

I'll be your shade as clouds upon the winds

And when you are sad I'll fall down

I'll cover you with rain to hide your frown

Stilling moments of all time

I was

I am

And always will be

The water who nourishes to all needs

Moon Rise

Twilight

My love

The sun has gone down

You may rise above

Luminate the darkend sky

With your grace of myrrh

Free the stars within your eyes

Angelic one

A mother of love

Gently rise

Let go of the sun

My moon

My love

Shadow us with your blanket of care

Follow me

Everywhere

Send me those whispers

Those loving beams

Those tender moments

Just for me

I shall freeze time

For this moment at hand

As you are not in the sky

And we are not on land

You do not hide behind the clouds

My love my love

Shine and be profound

Do not hide your beauty from me

Those scars I know were cut deep

Oh loving moon

Shall you ever know

Just how much

I love you so

Moon rise

Up for me

Grace the world with your light

Just be

My Addiction Is Clear

Through the battle of addictions glare
That blinding light I so stare
To dream beyond
Waking not from your slumbering arms
To walk upon this blood shed lawn
Where children are beaten
And played as a pawn
An addiction to dream
Heriones dawn
Pumps my viens
Anger subsides
Tears shall stream from my blue eyes
Hatred stemmed
With a justice for peace
A battle uncertain
My anger I keep Touch me and just see
I shall dream away in my bed of sleep
Holding the keys
Lashing at my brain

Lashing out at those

Who caused such pain

My Best Friend

There was once a time

Through many Riddles and Rhymes

You will find you were always mine

Upon this page I write away

As I think back on yesterday

Held captive by a beauty so rare

I was but a knight and you an heir

Closing my eyes to titles held

I will remember the perfumed smell

Those royal colors flowing bright

As long as I shall live I will be your knight

You shall always be my love my life

I will always protect you when in strife

Don't shed those lovely tears

We shall always have so many years

Whenever you need me I'll be by your side

Oh my love do not cry

One day you shall be crowned a Queen

And I will come running perhaps unseen

And I too shall stand next to you

Defending even your new name...soon

So wipe those sad eyes and look ahead

I will always be your best friend

My New Crush

Opening my eyes

To start my day

The birds fly up in the skies

Upon the breeze they sing away

The sun beams down with glory to share

The trees in honor of my stand

The flowers bloom in such care

And my eyes adore the land

'Everything is fresh and new'

The sky has perfections brush

A beauty to behold the worlds hue

In love with nature...my new crush

My Renea

The majestic moon hovers above

Embracing the tide of a lovers lost love

Clouded night Skies are grey

Walking on rainbows of Renea

Cob webbed corridors No entrance here

Footsteps echo as a ghost draws near

Lights flicker along the way

Stranger beware you can not stay

Haunting of another day

Sudden movements far and wide

Unlocks the heavens let's loose the tide

The clock ticks But doesn't strike three

Chained to my memory

A silent ghost with a key

Says goodbye but never leaves

Covered pictures as if I were dead

Silent whispers

From beneath my bed

Black as midnight the ink flows away

Unlocking the mysteries of my Renea

Paper Roses

Hush my darling
I pen away
Wiping the tears that remain
Turning the page
A moving piece
A moment in time
Blossoming before my very eyes
Soft spoken words
Written away
My reminder of another day
The flowers of our love may die,
but fragrant memories linger
A small token
A gift for my love
These paper roses
Written above
Each line holds a fold
A crease in words
Ruffling with Aroma
Filling me so
The flowers of our love may die,
Forever upon my page
Forever in my heart
Memories remain
But the flowers still wilt just the same

Seasons Change

The day may break forth with a blinding light

As I let go of a Sodom night

Watching the candles dance in silence

The fireplace crackles

I sit alone with my thoughts

In my silence

My forget me nots

I'll add another blanket

To counteract the chill

Staring out the windowsill

Perhaps the day will rise with ease

Melting the snow

Just believe

Another blanket

A sip of coffee

Warm me

The fireplace gleams and glows

Rain begins to fall from snow

Tearing down the mistletoe

Winter breaks in but a day

So quickly seasons change
The trees spring forth in small buds
The roses burst open with joy
I still feel winter inside
As summer is creeping outside
Another log on the fire
As I sit on the hard wooded floor
Reading the same words repeated galore
Tossing the words to be burned
Wondering If I will ever be okay
As the leaves fall and colors start to fade
Line by line
Another tear
Another rhyme
Winters chill turns bitter cold
As I sit here just writing along

She Waits

Behold but a beam of golden light within the eyes of an angel

oh precious moonlight

The nightingale sings in high pitched breeze

An angel has been redeemed

Stands the quill within my hand

But oh how

The ink is red

With every ounce of my being

I tremble inside

Standing upon the shore

Watching the tide

If I am to see you go under

My last breath I will draw

With you into asunder

Keep looking forward to the horizon fair

My love my love

You will find me there

Death can not separate a love so true

Death shall never separate me from you

Hell has no boundaries

And Heaven is made for love so true

Just think of me

And I will see you through

My love my love

I love you

Silence Of Reckoning

I journey through the thickened woods

The sound of the forest breatheing I can hear

Through the trees where birds sing

An inhale and exhale I am free

Breathe me

By a stream where wildflowers grow

A ray of sunshine glimmers and glows

Gracing the water with a warmth of love

I shall step into that light from above

Forgetting all else

Forgetting my name

The silence of my reckoning

A peace be made

Through the warm water stream

I drift away

My only comfort for today

Do not ask

Cause I won't hear

Seek me if you may

Only few can get here

Songs Of The Sea

I silently stand here quaking

My immortal soul to be awakened

That bright light twirling about

Above the ocean of so many doubts

You moving moon light my way

The sky is so cloudy today

Spin and spin

Twirling about

Guide my ship though those seas of doubt

Oh my love

my love

who sails alone

On brisk waters of evenings throne

On the shore I wait away

Shall you return to call my name

Will you ever return to me

I am the one who longs

for the songs of the sea

Oh misty water hear my plea

How is my love

Now that she's free

Sunset's Dance

A long ago story my heart hold true

A story of me and you

Twilights glow sprinkled array

Within the sound of my name

A dance in the moonlight

Upon the shore

You left me breathless forevermore

That softening glow upon your face

Dancing in the moonlight with salvation's grace

My dear my dear

Such a paginate flow

The oceans scenic values glow

And oh those eyes

God placed his throne

Leaning inward to oh so roam

Sweet Blossoms Of Memory

A small little breeze blows those fragile

Fragile little things

Upon a highlighted cherry blossom tree

Those pinkish purple petals you see

Twirl round about me

I close my eyes and dance within

Within the rain of natures wind

Sweet blossoms of memory

Oh how you captivate me

A kiss upon my tear flowed cheek

Forever the moment shall stay meek

Small petal oh how you see

My loving testimony

Twirling about with outstretched arms

I reach for the Sky's endless charm

All the pretty petals glimmer and glow

Dancing through the trees

As a breath of Heavens breeze

Tears

Hearts eternal flame races into the pits of my stomach
Churning and mixing my emotions
Until the once placid logical frame becomes void
Chaos's frozen fear whips through me
As a jagged knives edge through your soul

All hopes and dreams are diminished by love's cruel kiss
A kiss of fatality from the battered soul's lustful games
Save me from the pureness of hope
Deliver me from my dreams
Let them stray into the tomb of forgetfulness
Nevermore to roam inside

Fallen tears echo down life's corridor
To roam as a lost spirit trapped in purgatory
My tears will be no more
Windows fogged up never to see the same again
I live life in a blur of reality

Majestic spells of love dance about me
Deafen by lies and deceit I'm off cue
Rhythmic remembrance flows through my mind
Icy cold lava pumps frantically through my veins
Moving my soul to dance to a beat
A muted beat of hope
Abstract visions of dreams flow through my mind
As I come to find my cage of refuge
I find my tears

The Lonesome Rain

Lately I sat and stared abroad

Out this window into my yard

Clouds roll with thunderous sounds

Lightning flashes all around

Does time stand still

Or go backwards and uphill

Standing quite at my windowsill

Anticipating rain for the day

Anticipating my tears to fall at bay

The winds increase and pick up speed

Leaves twirl in the breeze

The wind chimes ring in angelic tone

Birds are scarce and all gone home

So much silence being here alone

My head pressed firm upon the glass

My tears fall at last

When the sky lets go with a cold and lonesome rain

I find myself start to fade

The Marker With No Name

There among the stones

Lies a single red rose

Without a name

Trace or date

The tombstone has been erased

A body lies deep and cold

Surely I would remember

Such a lovely rose

OH but this one

This one I shall tend

I shall bring flowers

In remembrance

Of my long ago friend

To the tears I often shed

To the anger I try to forget

I shall come to the stone

With no name

Just a marker

Standing

That calls my name

I'd swear I heard a whisper
A cry in the night
Coming from the marker
I grabbed my light
Kneeling down
Caught by surprise
I seen so many
Roses in the night
Gathering round the stone
With no name
Whispers came
From beyond the grave
Shadows and orbs shinning bright
Surrounded the tombstone
To listen tonight
Oh how the cries
Seemed soft as the rain
Coming from the stone
With no name
Every night since that day
The shadows of the dead

Gather round

Listening to the weeping sound

The sound of the rose

Without a name

Lying cold

Within this grave

The Tears In My Eyes

Inside the prism the sun beams

Release the colors often unseen

The harlem bells sounds it's toll

Inside my sanctuary

Frozen and cold

No one is needed

No one just me

Forget those that tried

They fell in defeat

A shade of red

No need to cry

Backing down

One more time

My standards mean nothing

And I'm just a child

And I still cry

You aren't worth

The tear in my eyes

Waiting For The Light

Florescent hope dimmed by life's chaos

Darkness intervenes with the kiss of morning light

Instead of joy there's only night

Deception of winds blow erratically

Just to make you loose your way

Tossed about with emotions of your past

Coming and going here and there

Icy cold rain trickles down about you

You look for shelter

Only to find an ocean of tears

Waves rolling on top of you

As the salt stings your skin

As the force of nature grabs hold and pulls you in

Clouds get darker as you search for help

Wishing to drown wanting to swim

You sit in stillness

Waiting for the light

Clouds turn to coal as fire falls from the sky

The pain of the rain so unkind

I stay afloat in my pain

Stung by fire tormented by tears

Waiting for the light

Waterfall Of Your Love

Colors danced green and blue

The thinker the dreamer

Tear of an angel and her glue

Queen of hearts colored in red

And the lost but found door

No words were said

Just a kiss of bliss

As knees were bent

Because your angel you sent

Twilight sparkled and was no more

As I opened up your door

Sun shone bright

The rainbows above

As I found the dove

Within the waterfall of your love
