Poetry lets me be me. Say what I want, when I want, how I want. Insired everyday, by everything, and by everyone.

A Poet Of Poems

A poet isn't someone who knows what he/she is going to write, recite, or compose. A poet only knows what to say as the time and/or place arrives. The best poems are thought of on the spot, straight out of someones mind and no matter the context, it will always make perfect sense to someone out there. Yet somehow, that person whom it makes sense to, always finds the poem at the exact time needed. No one knows why this happens, and no one wants to know. Why would one want to figure out the love, mystery, excitement, feelings and incredible truth behind the poems that makes you and i both think about life the way we do? Because, you, as am I, are poets...Have you realized it yet?

Find It, Live It

Walking through the dark,
when nothing is yet of satisfaction.

You run, thinking it's the only way,
ending up right where you started.

Not what you were wanting,
you are eager to find yet another path.

Coming across the loneliness of a lost soul,
damaged by love, heartbroken and cold.

Too late to make up what is wrong,
perfect place to start what is right.

You settle down, catch your breath,
you live your life, finally...

From The First Site

Sudden feelings in my heart,
Banished by you,
They were torn apart.

Passing by me in the hall,
You notice nothing,
Nothing at all.

But wait, what's that I saw,
It's a blush, a breakthrough,
A flaw.

You're afraid of love,
That's it, that's all.

Why didn't you tell me,
You never let me know.

Your love for me,
That you were afraid to show.

From there on to,
The day you became true.

That it is your love,
And you have the right to let it out.

We've been together for awhile now,
But yet we look back.

To that day we found love.

Geo Metro

Clutch In,
Brake Down,
Key In,
Rotate Now.

Radio On,
Music Loud,
No Bass At All,
Oh Ain't We Proud.

Shift To First,
Here We Go,
Come On Baby,
Let's Hit The Road.

Honk, Beep,
Look Who's Awing,
That's Right Peeps,
50 Miles To The Gallon!

Left Turn,
Stop Light,
Rev It Up,
Make A Sight.

Pop The Clutch,
Squeal The Tires,
It Ain't No Hemi,
But It Runs Wired.

That-A-Way Bud
Now We Are B.A.
Let's Take You Home,
To Cruise Another Day!

I Knew

I knew it would happen,
you would find me someday.
I wouldn't have to look,
through every which way.

I knew not to force,
or not even to try.
Because I was myself,
and you fell from the sky.

I knew you were special,
for you being you.
And the moment it happened,
I knew it was true.

Your soft, calming voice,
is as graceful as snow.
But when I look to your eyes,
you look to mine and glow.

It may be just luck,
that we met on that day.
But for whatever reason,
I'm yours forever...That's how it shall stay.

Indescribable

The touch of your skin,
the look in your eye.

The way you make me feel,
when we say good-bye.

Nothing compares,
nothing comes close.

Oh Baby,
I Love You The Most!

Life Reason

Some say when,
Some say how.

They say then,
They say now.

I think why,
Why so fast.

You have one life,
Keep it in grasp.

Do something fun,
Make it last.

Climb a mountain,
Go for a run.

God put you here for a reason,
Don't ask me why.

That questions for you,
What's your reason?

The Cabin

That day we ran through the feild of hay, was the same day that I'd never change in any way.

As perfect as everything had come to pass,
we both knew...time wouldn't let this last.

The fire burns in the pit below,
we cuddle for warmth in the fires' glow.

Roasting a mellow to satisfy our hunger,
in the far distance we hear the thunder.

On the path to the cabin, we walk to get dry, inside on the bed, laying, with you by my side.

Falling asleep, you in my arms,
dreaming of the day, i first tried you to charm.

Goodmorning my dear the storm has expired,
we head way back home, for a week from now,
we'll be sitting at our fire.

Through It All

Through it all,
I lost the truth.

Through it all,
you were you.

Through it all,
for me it was all new!

Through it all,
it got better.

Through it all,
nothing else mattered.

Through it all,
I got scared...and ran.

Through it all,
I love you!

Through it all,
I'm sorry...

Where Is Home?

When I call a place home,
what does home mean?

Is it love, is it hate,
is it what can't be seen?

Are the people I live with,
the ones I must bare?

Or do I go where I'm happy,
with the one whose life I want to share?

Lonely feelings lie to me,
day in and day out.

No common noises,
the occasional scream and shout.

I want to get out of here,
to live the rest of my life.

To be with her is everything i have,
I want to make her my wife.

All there is to do,
now that the decision is made.

I need to take the next step,
head off, on my way.

Who Am I

Who Am I,
Am I me?

Who am I,
Lord let me see,

My future in life,
Where will it be?

Where will I go Lord,
When will I know.

When will the sun shine,
When will it snow?

Will you always be there,
By my side?

I know you will Lord,
You're my savior, my guide.

You

When you're gone, you're always here.
When you're quiet, you're so loud.
When you're sad, you're so darn happy.
When you're sleeping, you're fully alive.
When you're joking, you're really serious.
When you're looking in my eyes, you're lost in my mind.

When You Say I Love You, You're Saying Way More Than Words!

You Are Not Just A Prom Date

You looked at me today
And I'll never be the same
You took my breath away
And healed all my pain

Your eyes met with mine
And I thought that I might cry
You gave to me a smile
And I felt like I could fly

Then your voice I heard
Singing, you spoke my name
Laughing my heart leapt
This joy I could not tame

What a gift to us God has given
Such a jewel in this dark place
Full of such beauty and joy
You, the image of Grace

So smile beautiful Angel
Sing the world a song
For your joy is all that I seek
And for your laugh all that I long

And now I feel so bold
This confidence comes wherefrom
Will you beautiful cherub
Be my date to Prom?
